

Emergency Medicine Physician
Temple University School of Medicine
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Temple University School of Medicine (TUSM), Department of Emergency Medicine announces the search for a BC/BE emergency medicine physician to become a part of their faculty. The EM faculty covers three distinct clinical sites: Temple University Hospital, a level 1 Trauma Center; the Episcopal Campus, a busy inner city ED; and Jeanes Hospital, serving more of a private patient mix. Clinical time distribution will be matched to the candidate's interest and qualifications. All sites are part of the EM residency program and medical student experience. The position thus requires a strong interest in clinical teaching. Clinical hours vary depending on the expected role within the department. Candidates with expertise in EMS or Toxicology are especially encouraged to apply as we have openings in these subspecialty areas.

Emergency Medicine enjoys strong support at Temple University with a nationally recognized EM residency and a faculty that provides leadership within the medical school, hospital, and the greater EM community. A competitive salary is augmented by an outstanding benefits package and a departmental focus on the long-term wellness of its physicians.

Candidate Qualifications

- Active board certification or board eligibility in Emergency Medicine.
- Possess credentials for a faculty appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor or higher.
- Commitment to resident and student education.

Temple Health is committed to providing tomorrow's treatments today.

Giving our patients access to some of the world's most advanced therapies — and helping them achieve outcomes once thought impossible — is the driving force for all of our clinical care, research, and medical education.
