Fresno Medical Education Program

UCSF Fresno Emergency Medicine Faculty Position

The Department of Emergency Medicine at UCSF Fresno in conjunction with Central California Faculty Medical Group is seeking an additional core faculty member. Our emergency medicine residency program was founded in 1974, with 40 EM residents in a PGY1-4 format and is supported by UCSF and Community Regional Medical Center (CRMC) in Fresno, California.

CRMC is a 630 bed hospital, and the emergency department has an annual patient census of 110,000. It is the only Level 1 Trauma and Burn center serving several counties in Central California, and serves a diverse patient population. We offer fellowships in Wilderness Medicine, Ultrasound, and Education, and we sponsor two annual CME courses. We serve as the Base Station for a four-county EMS System and provide medical direction to the National Parks Service.

Our faculty group consists of 35 full time residency trained board certified emergency physicians, many with additional fellowship training. We seek qualified board certified (or eligible) candidates, particularly those with an interest in education, research, EMS, or pediatrics.

Interested Applicants should apply to:

Gregory W. Hendey, MD, FACEP
Professor and Chief of Emergency Medicine
